Dig deep Haliburton County. County council passed its 1991 budget last Wednesday, asking property owners to hand over 35.7 per cent more than last year.

"It's not a good news budget," said Bicroft Reeve William Howe when presenting the budget for council approval. "We had to make some tough decisions. They're not going to be popular but they were necessary."

One of the most controversial decisions made by council was a 53 per cent cut in the county's contribution to the Chamber of Commerce. Some members of the Chamber's board of directors are considering resigning over the move.

Chamber furious over cuts

In outlining some of the factors that led to the tax increase, Howe said the county had to pay off an $84,000 deficit from 1990 and is facing higher costs for welfare, health services and the Children's Aid Society, areas over which council has little or no control.

County demands information on Children's Aid expenses

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

County Council is stepping up the pressure to force the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society to hand over financial statements for operations in the county.

The county has been waiting since October for the Society to provide information about the cost of providing children's aid services in Haliburton.

The information is necessary to determine if the county should leave the Children's Aid Society and provide the service itself.

Warden Carol Puffer has sent a letter to the Ministry of Community and Social Service's Peterborough office asking for assistance in obtaining the information and at last Wednesday's council meeting the county decided to withhold funding from the society until the information is provided.

Cardiff Reeve Maurice Bradley is Haliburton County's representative on the Children Aid Society's board of directors and he told council that his repeated requests for the information have been put-off since October.

"There's been no response not even a letter," he said. "They keep telling me, two weeks." Bradley said the county had to threaten to withhold further funding in order to "put some teeth" into the request.

The society provides services in Haliburton, Victoria and Peterborough Counties and the City of Peterborough. The municipal governments are responsible for providing 20 per cent of the funding for the society.

In 1990, Haliburton County paid $74,160 towards the society and $92,000 has been budgeted for 1991. The county wants to find out how much of that money is actually spent in Haliburton County to determine if it's feasible for the county to provide the service without being a member of the Children's Aid Society.

Firemen burned by crank calls

by Susan Grober

Picture this: the sharp ring of a telephone sounds in five homes in the middle of the night, and people are called from their beds to respond.

It's the fire phone, and there's an emergency somewhere in Stanhope. Or is there?

All too often, it's just someone phoning to ask if there's a gas station open, or if there's bingo at the Firefighters Hall, or to find out where to hire a babysitter.

Or, even worse, it's someone making a prank call, requesting a response to a fake emergency, or asking a firefighter's wife if she has Prince Albert in a can.

Stanhope Fire Chief Bob Nangle says it's common for people to call the emergency number with questions better geared for an information service.

Greater freedom in Ukraine allows family to reunite

by Susan Grober

John Klym has gotten used to the taste of freedom in Canada.

The 72-year-old left his home in the Ukraine half a century ago, and has been living in Minden since 1971.

And now, as restrictions ease in the Soviet Union, John Klym has been able to slowly reunite with his family.

This month he saw his 68-year-old sister, Maria Buzora, for the first time in 50 years.

Buzora and Klym's second nephew, Wasel Mendryshora, arrived in Canada on March 8, and will return to the Ukraine this Tuesday, March 26.

"Through the travel agents, I made an application a year ago," Klym says from his home on Lutterworth Boundary Road, which he shares with his wife, Mary, another native of the Ukraine.

"I sent them a visa, and after so many months they finally made it, with our help," he says. "It's very hard to receive the tickets for the airline, because there are so many people coming in because there is more freedom in the USSR. People there all want to see their relatives over here."

There have been changes over the past few years in the Soviet Union. In a recent referendum, citizens were given the opportunity to vote on national unity. It was the first such referendum in Soviet history.

There is a lot of hope for more improved

human rights under Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev's leadership.

"It's still a lot of work to be done to get the standard of living, and hopefully it will get better from now on," says Klym.

Buzora and Mendryshora were quite impressed with Canada. "They feel very, very surprised that our standard of living is so high," Klym says.

"We went to the city, and we'll try to go to see the Niagara Falls," he says. "They have friends in Niagara Falls they would like to visit."

The Klyms took their visitors to Toronto, Oshawa and Lindsay, and the pair bought presents to take back home to the Ukraine.

"They were very pleased to see Toronto," says Klym. "They were also surprised about the cleanliness we have here."

Two years ago, Klym's sister Frozina paid a visit with niece Maria. And about 10 years ago, his youngest sister paid a visit, but she had to apply three times before approval from the government was finally granted.

Klym, who retired from his work as a carpenter two years ago, says there are no words to describe the feeling of being reunited with family after so many years.

Buzora and Mendryshora are thankful to the Klyms for inviting them over to reunite. They come from a small village in the country, with a population of 13,000.

Mendryshora, 33, drives a government truck for a farm, and hopes to return to Canada some day.

"He likes it very much, and hopes in the future they'll have living like we have here," says Klym.

"They like our system," he says. "They like our stores, and the things to buy. They like the things we have."

John and Mary Klym are happy they can see their relatives in person, rather than just communicate through letters and postcards.

"Now we enjoy our visitors — our family — and hopefully we have some more family come over soon," says John Klym.

Mary Klym isn't sure whether any of her relatives from back home will visit.

"We hope so, but it's a very slim hope for that. Maybe in the future we'll be happy to go and visit them."

John Klym says he and his wife look forward to going back to the Ukraine. But only for a visit.

"We work hard for 45 years in Canada, and we appreciate every minute of it."

CHACE to expand at new site

The County of Haliburton Agency for Child Enrichment (CHACE) has received the necessary funding to move the Minden resource centre.

The centre is currently located at the corner of Main St. and South Water St., but will be moving to the recently vacated Sears office on Bobcaygeon Road.

CHACE administrator

Sue Valm says the Ministry of Community and Social Services approved $55,000 in funding for the agency, $42,000 of which will be used to pay for renovations to the new location.

"It's an ideal spot," said Valm. "It's still centrally located and there's parking, which is something we've never had before. There's a spot in the back where we can make a playground."

Valm said the 1,600-square-foot building will be almost double the size of the current facility, which has become too small to handle the increased use over the past two years.

The centre provides a place for caregivers and parents to bring children to enjoy a wide range of activities as well as operating a toy and book library.

Valm says the funding will cover the entire cost of the move, including renovations, and will also pay for some additional purchases of equipment, toys and books. "It covers just about everything on our wish-list," she said.

The agency is arranging a grand opening ceremony at the new location May 1.

Funding slash threatens Chamber's future

'I don't know how the Chamber can exist with a shortfall of $35,000. It really puts us in jeopardy.'

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

County's council decision to slash funding to the Chamber of Commerce threatens its future, according to members serving on the board of directors.

Some directors are considering resigning after county council passed the 1991 budget and cut contributions to the Chamber by more than half.

Last year the county provided the Chamber with $70,000. This year the Chamber requested a grant of $73,500 but was given only $32,700.

Members of the Chamber's board of directors met last week to consider the consequences of the cuts, and are saying the future of Chamber operations is in doubt.

"I don't know how the Chamber can exist with a shortfall of $35,000," said member Ann Larcade. "It really puts us in jeopardy."

The Chamber has fixed annual costs of about $90,000 that cover the operation and staffing of the office on Highway 35. Larcade said there is some doubt as to whether or not the present level of service can now be maintained.

The board of directors has called a meeting for this Thursday to discuss the cuts with Chamber members and try and develop a strategy. Larcade says it unlikely the Chamber can raise membership fees to cover the difference, because the present levy would have to be doubled.

"The Chamber tried to be understanding this year, because of the economic situation, and not raise membership rates," said Larcade. "Businesses are not in a position to swallow another $35,000."

Council's decision has raised some serious questions about the direction the county is heading in to promote the area, she said.

"There is no Chamber of Commerce in Ontario that operates solely on membership fees," said Larcade. "It makes one question what direction county council sees this area moving in."

Councillors will be invited to Thursday's meeting to explain their decision.

Curtis Eastmure, owner of Maple Sands Resort, said he thinks the county's budget will put tourism in Haliburton back 10 years.

Eastmure, who said his opinions are not meant to represent the Chamber's position, was critical of the manner in which the county decided to cut funding.

A delegation of Chamber representatives presented their funding request to county council earlier this year and Eastmure said if councillors had any concerns they should have discussed the budget with the Chamber.

"That didn't happen, they didn't ask any questions," he said. "They should have called us, but they didn't think it through. I find that very unprofessional."

Eastmure says that when his term on the Chamber Board of Directors ends in November, he will not run for re-election.

"I will not spend any more time on it. I'm fed up and frustrated," he said. "I feel like we've been kicked in the teeth."

When the Chamber presented its funding request to the county, the proposed budget was itemized to show how the county's money would be spent, including trade shows, advertising and promotion.

The county's Chief Administrative Officer Gary McKnight says the decision to give the Chamber $32,700, was based on those activities the county wished to support, including three trade shows, telemarketing, co-op advertising and event development.

County taxes increase by 35.7% to cover deficit, welfare costs

Also included in the budget is the county's share of major initiatives being undertaken this year including the Waste Management Master Plan, a county-wide official plan and an economic development program.

Howe said council opted for a "pay as you go" philosophy instead of running up a deficit. "It's not going to please a lot of people," he said, "but some people it will please."

Howe said these projects, all of which attract substantial funding from the province, are too important to delay. "They are very, very necessary," he said. "I know times are tough and money is short, but we must get into these things. The future of the county depends on it."

Aside from the big-ticket items, there was an 8.2 per cent increase in the cost of general government, roads, and recreation and culture.

"The matters we have control over were handled very well by council," said Howe. Traditionally the county's budget has been prepared by the management committee, consisting of the ten reeves. This year it was decided to include the deputy-reeves in the process as well.

"I'm pleased we had the input of the entire council," said Howe. "It should be carried on."

Warden Carol Puffer said last year's deficit, which accounted for eight per cent of this year's tax increase, was caused by expenditures beyond council's control, most notably the cost of providing welfare which has doubled since 1989.

Given the circumstances, Howe said the county drafted the best budget it could. "It's not a bad budget, it's a good budget considering what we have to deal with."

Minden Deputy-Reeve Bern Berry said councillors started with a budget that would have increased taxes by more than 50 per cent and compromises had to be made to bring it down to 36 per cent.

The county is planning to spend $2.87 million in 1991. Of that, $2.26 million, or 78 per cent, will be raised through municipal property taxes.

Topping the list of expenditure increases in the budget were social and family services. The social service budget has increased by 65 per cent over last year, when increased welfare payments resulted in a $100,000 deficit. The county's contribution to the Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Aid Society has increased by 77 per cent to $92,000.

In total the county will spend $917,000 on social and family services this year, 31 per cent of the total budget.

The county's planning and zoning budget has increased by 106 per cent, to cover the cost of the county official plan and the establishment of an economic development department, although provincial funding will cover more than half of the those two projects.

The big loser is the Haliburton County Chamber of Commerce which requested $73,500 from the county to cover various promotional ventures, but was given only $32,700, a decrease of 53 per cent from last year's grant.

The county library system was given a 38.8 per cent increase over last year and will spend $84,000 this year.

Environmental services, which includes Gypsy Moth spraying and the waste management master plan, will spend $164,333, more than double the amount budgeted last year, however provincial grants will pay for 60 per cent of the expenditure.

Transportation services will increase 10 per cent.

After the presentation, Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis commended Howe for the leadership shown during the budget process. "It's the most difficult one I've seen," said Davis.

Alberta Senator and Reform Party member Stan Waters.

Reform senator says deficit is Canada's big problem

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Quebec is the only part of Canada that can legitimately claim to be a cohesive nation, according to Stan Waters, a senator from Alberta and member of the Reform Party.

"There is no English Canada," Waters told reporters in Lindsay last Thursday. "There is French Canada and the rest of Canada, which is about one hundred different groups."

He said the traditional vision of Canada, based on the two founding cultures of French and English, is crumbling and Canadians are going to have to choose a new vision to replace it.

Waters is Canada's first and only elected senator and senate reform is one of the issues the Reform Party has built its platform around.

Although a young party, the Reform Party has experienced sky rocketing popularity in the past two years and with 75,000 paid-up members is now the largest political party in western Canada.

Waters said the party's membership is growing at the rate of 4,000 to 5,000 new members every month. "We're at the point where we're having difficulty digesting our success," he said.

Originally the Reform Party evolved out of western regionalism and the feeling that the four provinces west of Ontario were not being listened to in Ottawa. "We wanted a fair break in Confederation," said Waters.

On April 9, the Reform Party is holding its annual convention in Saskatoon and the membership will be voting on a resolution to expand the party east of Manitoba.

Confident the party will decide to move into Ontario, 67 interim riding associations have been established in the this province and membership has grown to more than 5,000 in the past year.

Waters says the Reform Party could conceivably win 40 seats in the next election, giving it the balance of power in a parliament split five ways between the Conservatives, Liberals, New Democrats, Bloc Quebecois and the Reformers.

"Five parties in the House of Commons is going to create other problems," he said. "We've looked at minority governments as being healthy, but I'm not sure that with five parties it will be that easy. It will be very much divided."

And although the Constitution seems to be the hottest issue in the country right now, Waters says the next election will be fought on Canada's economic crisis.

"The dominant issue will be the fiscal issue, we're close to bankruptcy," he said. In order to avoid a fiscal disaster, Waters said the next government is going to have to enact a three to five year plan to reverse the annual deficit and then pay down Canada's $400 billion debt over the next 50 years.

While negotiating changes to the constitution is important, Waters said the fiscal issue is much more urgent.

Waters spoke at a fundraising dinner sponsored by the Victoria-Haliburton Reform Party riding association at the Admiral Inn last Thursday.

Fire phone restricted to emergencies

phone rings," he says. "It could be anytime at night, and then they just ask stupid questions."

Nangle figures some of these people think they are calling the Firefighters Community Hall, or that Stanhope has a regular department, rather than one made up of 22 volunteers.

"But it's still a nuisance, and it disturbs a lot of people," he says.

The emergency line rings in the township office and the fire hall, as well as the homes of four firefighters' and dispatcher Ann Barker.

It's usually the wives of the firefighters who answer the phone, so their husbands can get dressed and ready to head out in response to the emergency.

Barker has answered her fair share of calls from people wondering whether the gas stations are open, or asking for the number of a local business. Barker will remind the caller that Bell Canada provides an information service, which only costs a quarter.

"Most of them will apologize once we tell them we're not an information service, we're for an emergency only," she says.

If a child is phoning for help because he is upset or lost, or if an adult is in serious trouble, those who answer the phone will deal with it. "We'll help where we can," says Barker.

However, the most frustrating calls are ones from pranksters. "We've had calls in the past like that," says Barker. "One time somebody called saying the Stanhope Airport was on fire, and it wasn't. Through some detective work, we found out who did it."

Such calls anger Barker. "Somebody could lose his life because of those pranks... It is an offence, and they can be charged."

All men on the department carry pagers, and leave their homes or work if there is a fire or accident.

"It brings people out of their beds, and their households," she says. "They just drop everything. Meanwhile, it's just some turkey on the line who's half-snapped."

Barker says there's nothing more foolish than making a prank call to an emergency service.

"They are putting the firemen's lives at risk when they make these calls," she says. "They have to drive fairly quickly to get to the fire hall in a reasonable amount of time. So it's putting 22 men's lives in danger."

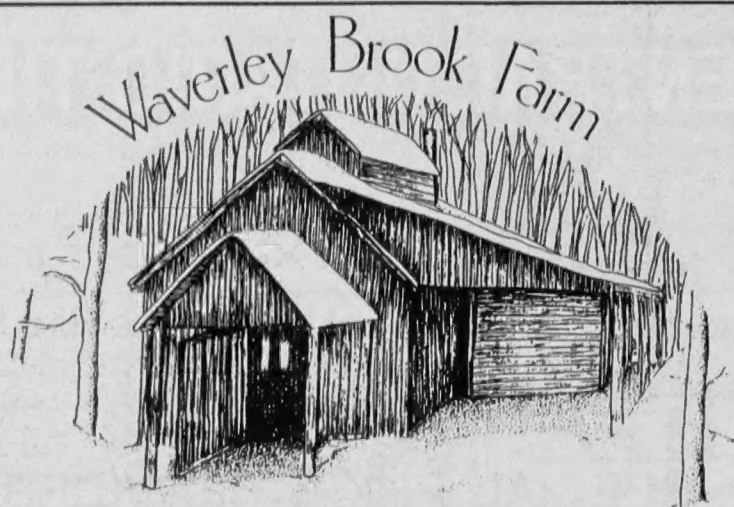

"It could be your life that's going to be saved one day because that line is there," she says.

Fortunately, the fire department doesn't receive many prank calls anymore, says Barker, "but we do get a lot of silly calls."

The listing for the emergency line will be changed in the new phone book, to distinguish the fire department number from the one for the Firefighters Community Hall.

And Barker hopes a 911 emergency system will be in place within the next three years.

Until then, unless the bingo hall is on fire, the Stanhope Fire Department doesn't want to hear about it.

Somerville cancels fire protection in Galway

by Jay Kerr-Wilson

Somerville Township has cancelled a fire protection agreement with the municipality of Galway and Cavendish.

Bryce Young, the reeve of Somerville, says his council decided not to continue providing fire protection to the neighbouring Galway because of continuing disagreements.

"It's an annual event with Galway," said Young. "They never want to pay the ($1,750) standby fee, it's been going on this way for a while."

The annual agreement between Galway and Somerville expired last September, at which time a revised agreement was sent to Galway. Young says Galway council didn't reply until last month when Somerville received a two-page letter from Galway's lawyer asking that the agreement be reviewed.

But because the 90-day grace period has lapsed, Young said Somerville council decided to terminate the agreement.

"Council is very disappointed that we are once again having to discuss the fire agreement with your municipality, especially considering that other surrounding municipalities accepted our agreements without question," says a letter from Somerville to Galway.

The letter advises Galway council to notify affected ratepayers that the fire protection agreement has been terminated.

The Somerville Fire

Department provides fire coverage for the portion of Galway near the village of Kinmount, including the Galway municipal office. The coverage area extends east along highway 503.

Young says Somerville also provides fire coverage to the townships of Snowdon and Lutterworth and, although the agreement was very similar to the one offered to Galway, neither municipality had any problem signing it.

"What do you do?" asks Young. "It goes on every year. It takes a lot of effort and time (to set up the agreement) and people end up getting upset. It's a hassle."

"We thought it would be better to let them make their own arrangements, we don't want their business."

Community policing meeting tonight

There will be a public meeting tonight to discuss the proposed community-policing program for Minden village. The meeting is being held in the council chambers at the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal offices at 7:30 p.m. Staff Sergeant Bill Elliott from the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police will be on hand to explain the proposal and answer questions.

No matter what you think of county council as a result of last week's budget, you certainly can't accuse them of avoiding controversy during an election year.

Not only did the county approve a 35.7 per cent increase in taxes, they also slashed funding to the Chamber of Commerce, a move which is already causing fireworks.

The county can't take all the blame for the tax increase. The single biggest culprit is the recession which caused a massive increase in welfare payments.

But one has to wonder why the Chamber of Commerce was chosen to suffer such a drastic cut. Given the recent performance of the tourism industry it would seem that an increase in promotion is needed to attract new money to the area.

There seems to be a lack of communication, and cooperation, between the Chamber and the county when it comes to planning the economic future of the Highlands, an issue that should be of mutual concern.

With the county in the process of developing an economic development office, now is the time to devise a sound policy for nurturing growth in the future, encompassing all sectors of the economy including tourism, industry, construction and retail.

And instead of working at cross purposes, or squabbling over resources, the county and the Chamber should negotiate their respective responsibilities and how each can best fulfill its mandate.

Perhaps the one silver lining in the current conflict is the fact that the Chamber and county be forced to re-evaluate their relationship.

The spilling of blood is what war is about

In modern war, you will die like a dog for no good reason.

Ernest Hemingway

I've been thinking a lot about war lately--as who of us has not? It's been the lead item on the nightly news for all of this sad, short year.

Except it's not much like war, this TV one. The Nintendo War, someone called it. That's a good name. Some tiny unidentifiable blip shows up on our TV screen and Pacmanlike missiles or lasers or some other newfangled incomprehensible gizmo tracks it down and then it's gone. "That's an Iraq tank" (or radar station or bunker) the emcee in camouflage fatigues inform us. Then, poof! It disappears from the TV screen and hence from existence. No mess, no fuss. Certainly no blood.

Except we know there is blood. There always is. The calculated, deliberate spilling of human blood is what war is all about.

"Blood is just like money," a Vietnam vet once said. "It's the currency of war. You try to invest yours--to get as high a return as possible. And you try to spend the enemy's."

The irony of this punchup is that the Iraqi War Command talked like sharks in a feeding frenzy and performed like lambs in a slaughterhouse. The Allies talked like namby-pamby morticians--and delivered death and destruction with a ferocity this old blood-soaked planet's never seen before.

It's hard to decide which posture is more obscene.

Hussein: "The infidels will drown in an ocean of their own blood."

Allied spokesman: "We encountered light resistance which was turned back with minimal collateral damage."

It's surpassingly strange human phenomenon, war. I don't believe there's another species on earth that periodically masses in large numbers to main,

Objection is for shooting range, not Marksmen Club

Editor:

I would like to respond to the article entitled "Marksmen keep shooting in Lutterworth", The Times, Monday, March 11, 1991, as given to the reporter Susan Grober by the members of the Lutterworth Township Council.

In mid December 1990 I received a letter from the Lutterworth Township opening thus: RE: Your objections to the re-zoning Application of the Haliburton Marksmen Club.

In the body of the letter I was ordered to: "contact Mr. Craig (President of the Marksmen Club), in order for yourself and Mr. Craig to set up a meeting to discuss this matter."

There is a wrong interpretation of my original statement to the Council regarding my objections which read thus: "In answer to your notice of the meeting concerning the proposed amendment to the zoning By-law No. 4 - 18, I would put forward in writing the following objections to the lands under consideration for use as a shooting range."

These are my objections in brief:

a) Noise - the crashing and banging of shooting at the most 3/4 mile cross country from my residence. The shooting goes on from sunrise to sunset, and from Sunday to Saturday - like a war zone.

b) People with heavy duty guns starting at the shooting range area and coming up from the Ironmine Road West, shooting and coming in my gateway, shooting.

c) Devaluation of my property due to a shooting range adjacent to it.

d) References to the inappropriateness of a shooting range where there are residences quite close by.

My objections are definitely aimed at re-zoning for a shooting range. NOT at the Marksmen Club.

Since a previous Council (1984) set all this affair up in the first place, I feel strongly that the present Lutterworth Township Council, in asking for opinions - pro or con - should be responsible for setting up a meeting to deal with the objections.

The meeting should consist of: the Township Council, a representative of the party of the affirmative side, a representative of the party of the negative side, and a disinterested adjudicator.

Councillor Bill Valentine ought to have known all about this process and surely Reeve Carol Puffer knows that under the circumstances, an 'amicable agreement' that she demanded of me was ludicrous. So why does she lump the whole responsibility on my shoulders?

As for the flurry of petty, vindictive, personal comments against me, these are undoubtedly based on false information or wild assumptions or both.

Question: The lease between the Lutterworth Township Council and the Haliburton Marksmen Club specifies that small arms are to be used. R. Coleman states that they also use rifles and shot guns. Are these last mentioned considered to be small arms?

I still maintain firmly that a shooting range is NOT compatible with a residential area, which this is.

Yours very truly,
Lurline J. Trotter.

Lutterworth councillor supports HCSA

Editor:

It seems, from Mr. Babineau's open letter to me, that he is a newcomer to our area, otherwise he would know that I have supported H.C.S.A. since it began.

The reason I first ran for Council was because Lutterworth threatened to pass a by-law banning snowmobiles from all Township roads. At that time we had only the lakes, trappers' trails, and local roads for our machines. When Steve Berry asked if the R-2 Anson-Scrabble Mt. Trail could cross our property, I offered the club a free perpetual right-of-way. The executive of the day opted for an annual, verbal agreement which we still have.

I fully supported the Lutterworth Council in all of the following: 1) the cleaning of the old dry land trail around Black Lake and the building of the bridge across Sheldon Creek by Herb Roodenberg and his crew under Student Summer Work Grants; 2) the purchase of a Bombi, groomer, ATV, and Ski-Doo under Wintario grants; 3) the bulldozing part of the "Loop" in Lutter-worth, and, 3) the use of Township roads and right-of-ways where needed.

We personally contributed to the purchase of the original Bombies. (I still have my "Bomby Booster" crest and decals somewhere). Last year the Lutterworth Bombi was parked at our place and we supplied the hydro for its block heater each night. I made the offer again for this year but the old Lutterworth Bombi has been traded in.

If this is not support, then please enlighten me.

If Mr. Babineau can't take a bit of well-deserved criticism, then God help his poor thin skin when the blackflies arrive.

Bill Valentine,
Lutterworth.

Senior wants homemaker services

Editor:

They tell Senior Citizens to live in their home as long as they can. They can have help. I am 88 years old and have high blood pressure. Now these people give me a homemaker. One day in February I had my laundry ready waiting for my homemaker when they phoned saying she wouldn't be there. My doctor is trying to control my blood pressure. There is no way I can have a new homemaker coming in any hour or day that suits them. There are some seniors who have their homemakers with no changes.

Foodbank a success

Editor:

The community's positive response to the Canadian Union of Public Employees sponsored Minden Food Cupboard Drive is filling the cupboard shelves. Because of this generous response, fewer people will suffer from hunger.

For one additional week food drop locations will be at the Minden Legion and Minden CHACE Place. Coin collectors will be located at the Minden Hospital, Minden Legion, IDA, Sunny Convenience and CHACE Place. If you can spare non-perishable food or loose change, please bring your donation to one of these locations.

Lutterworth's Leaping Lisa

Editor:

In a country that has fought for its freedoms and those of others, it is discouraging to note that some democratically elected Lutterworth Township Councillors cannot whole-heartedly support our Canadian Forces involvement in ongoing "freedom" causes.

Councillor Lisa Mercer's quote "if it's American, you've got my vote against it" is counter productive for an area that thrives on tourism. John Crosby has "Tequila Sheila", Lutterworth has "Leaping Lisa".

dismember and murder its own kind. Military analyst Gwynne Dyer (yes, the one in the odd leather jacket) speculate that the first time five thousand male human beings ever assembled in one place, chances are pretty good that they were dogface soldiers. And that it happened about 10,000 years ago, give or take a millennium or so.

"It is an equally safe bet," says Dyer, "that the first truly large-scale slaughter of people in human history happened very soon afterward."

And we've been at it ever since. This year, all our attention has been on "The War"—meaning the one in the Gulf. It's easy to forget that for millions of other human beings in places like Sri Lanka, Mozambique, Soweto and Cambodia there's another wholesale bloodletting closer to hand. Indeed, at any time you care to select there are at least a dozen armed struggles going on somewhere.

How can we do this to one another? It's not for lack of knowledge about what war really is. Read these words:

Meriones pursued and overtaking Pheraklos, struck in the right buttock, and the spearhead drove straight on and passing under the bone went into the bladder. He dropped, screaming, to his knees, and death was a mist about him.

A little 'collateral damage' from a conflict that took place 3,200 years ago, described by Homer in The Iliad. Modernize the language and swap a 'bouncing betty' for the spear and you could be listening to a CNN correspondent reporting live from Kuwait.

War. Birds and bees don't do it. Neither do amoebas or wolves or sperm whales.

But I did notice a small item buried in the Gulf War coverage of my newspaper last week. It says that Washington scientists have taught a chimpanzee now to make and use a hand axe. "It's the first time a member of a non-human species has learned to make a stone tool," a spokesman said.

To which I say: oh, swell.

Stanhope Fun Day cancelled

Stanhope council has decided to cancel this year's Fun Day community festival because of a conflict with the Township's 125th anniversary.

On August 3, the township will be recognizing Stanhope's anniversary by holding official openings of the new municipal offices, the expanded airport and the firehall addition. Council decided that holding Fun Day on the fourth Saturday of July, a week before the anniversary celebrations, would cause a conflict.

Noting a decline in Fun Day attendance over the last several years, council is also considering making some changes to the annual festival.

"Unless we have a whole new format, we might as well forget it," said Reeve Harry Davis. He said a lot of events offered have "run their course."

Deputy-Reeve Anne Barker said she would be sorry not to see Fun Day resume in 1992. She suggested that council send a letter to the cottage associations explaining why the event was cancelled and asking for their input to improve Fun Day next year.

Man who drove drunk on Christmas loses licence

The following cases were heard last Wednesday by Judge Crawford in provincial court in Minden. Jerry Woron acted as Crown Attorney.

Woman says breathing disorder led to charge

A 43-year-old woman was fined $360 after pleading guilty to refusing to provide a screening sample.

Last November 23, Muriel M. Doiron's car went into a ditch off Harmony Road in Haliburton at 11:30 p.m. She told police the accident occurred after a vehicle came at her in her lane, and she was forced to take action.

Later, at 1 a.m., Doiron was found by police walking northbound down the centre of the highway. Police noted an odour of alcohol on her breath, and that she had slurred speech.

An officer demanded Doiron to take a roadside breath test to determine whether she was over the legal limit of alcohol.

Despite several attempts, Doiron didn't provide a sufficient sample of breath to register on the machine, and was then charged.

Doiron told Judge Crawford she didn't deliberately try to fool the machine, but was unable to provide the breath sample because she has a poor ventilation capacity as the result of heavy cigarette smoking.

Although she has been tested by a doctor, who provided letters on her behalf, "They just can't find why I can't breathe properly," said Doiron. "There's no abnormality on the tests. It's just that I can't breathe right."

In the courts

Judge Crawford told the woman she shouldn't plead guilty, but Doiron declined to change her plea. "I don't see what else I can do," she said.

The judge said he would fine her at the lower end of the scale. He also ordered that she be prohibited from driving for three months, but said it's up to the province to determine how long to suspend her licence. He said the province would probably hand down a one year suspension.

Doiron has two months to pay the $350 fine and $10 victim surcharge.

Driver impaired on Christmas day

A Haliburton man must pay $525 and is prohibited from driving for a year as the result of pleading guilty to an impaired driving charge.

Last December 25, a vehicle driven by 53-year-old Harold B. Rasmussen was stopped by police during a routine check.

Because Rasmussen's eyes were watery, and his speech slurred, two breathalyzer tests were performed indicating he had 166 mg and 180 mg of alcohol in 100 ml of blood. The legal limit is 80 mg.

Judge Crawford noted that, although there was no indication of poor driving, the samples taken were two times the legal limit.

He said Rasmussen's guilty plea is an indication of remorse. "You have acted responsibly by pleading guilty."

Rasmussen must pay a $500 fine and $25 victim surcharge. His licence is suspended for one year.

Suspended sentence for domestic dispute

A 25-year-old Minden man received 18 months probation after pleading guilty to assaulting his estranged wife and his brother.

William J. Stromberg pleaded not guilty to the charges of assault causing bodily harm, but guilty to lesser charges of common assault. He also pleaded guilty to stealing a truck from his estranged wife.

Court was told that last October 6, Stromberg broke a gold chain worn by his wife when he grabbed her by the neck and pushed her. They were separated at the time.

Later that day, Stromberg grabbed his brother and pushed him backward into a brick chimney.

Previously, August 25, 1990, Stromberg stole a truck from his estranged wife's property.

Defence lawyer Karen Johnston said Stromberg had purchased the truck, and made several payments on it. However, it was placed in his mother-in-law's name for insurance purposes.

When he and his wife separated, Stromberg had the truck for awhile, but then it disappeared, said Johnston.

"She couldn't stand to see him driving around in it with another woman," Johnston said of Stromberg's estranged wife.

Johnston said the incidents occurred a reasonably short time after the separation from his wife.

Judge Crawford noted a "relatively low degree of violence" involved in both assault incidents.

Referring to the theft charge, the judge said it's relevant that Stromberg has been paying for the truck. He also acknowledged the fact that Stromberg is a first offender, and was upset at the time of the incident.

However, Judge Crawford said there was a "certain dishonest bent" to the way Stromberg attained the truck.

"It was very foolish of you to take the law into your own hands, as you did," said Judge Crawford.

For the assault charges, the judge suspended sentence and placed Stromberg on 18 months probation. Also, he must not associate with his wife, except through counsel.

Stromberg must pay $350 and a $10 victim surcharge for the theft charge.

Charges for forged cheques dismissed

Judge Crawford dismissed 12 charges against a woman accused of forgery and knowingly using six forged cheques nearly four years ago.

Judy J. Gillies, 26, was charged with signing the name William Pankhurst on five cheques worth a total of $290 to Robinson's General Store in Dorset between April 10 and 16 in 1987. She was also charged with signing the name to a $60 cheque to the Nordic Inn on April 15.

Defence lawyer Karen Johnston made a motion to have the matter dismissed because of unreasonable delay. Under the Charter of Rights, the accused has a right to trial within a reasonable time.

"It is now four years from the date of the offence, and the delay should not be tolerated," said Johnston.

Judge Crawford noted that some of the delay was created because there were several attempts to have Gillies tried at the same time as a co-accused, Frank Pankhurst.

However, there was at least one occasion when Gillies didn't show up at court because she didn't have transportation, noted the judge.

After reviewing all the evidence, "I am satisfied the rights of Judy Gillies have been infringed," said Judge Crawford, who decided to stay the proceedings.

Frank Pankhurst will appear in Lindsay Court on March 25.

Suspended sentence for spending funny money

A 19-year-old Toronto group home resident received a suspended sentence and two years probation for spending a twenty dollar bill he knew was counterfeit.

Raymond Lariviere got change for the fake American bill at the Noble Motel in Norland. The money was handed to him by a friend, and the pair were heading for Lindsay, said Crown Attorney Jerry Woron.

"We needed some money because we were stranded," said Lariviere, who receives counselling for independent living through a residential program at Clifton Youth Services.

Karen Taylor, a worker at Clifton, told the court she felt Lariviere should be ordered to report to a probation officer during his probation to help him understand the impact of having a criminal record.

In 1989, he received nine months probation for possession of property obtained by crime, but wasn't required to report to a probation officer.

Judge Crawford granted this request, and told Lariviere a criminal record is a serious matter. He also noted that the charge is serious. "It carries a maximum sentence of 14 years, but this incident is of a less serious nature."

The judge also ordered Lariviere to pay $20 restitution to the motel.

Home Hardware jumps into one game lead

Continuing the strong showing they demonstrated through the initial round of the playoffs, Home Hardware has jumped into a one game lead in the Men's Recreational Hockey League finals. Home defeated Westside Jug City 4-3 in an exciting, hard-fought contest last Monday night to take the one game advantage. The final series is a best of three competition.

Norm Barry led the charge for Home Hardware, scoring two goals, and assisting on one of the others. Barry led off the scoring with a goal in the first period, connecting on a pass from Dave Rogers and Barry Boice. Before the frame ended, Westside tied the score, with Darryl Allison finding the mark on a pass from Garry Harrison and Scott Munson.

The teams traded goals through the second period. Westside jumped into the lead when Dean Hewitt scored. The single assist went to Dave Hartwick. Barry responded for Home Hardware, scoring his second of the night with the assists going to Boice and Ted Vasey. Westside again grabbed the lead on a goal from Allison, his second, and assist from Hartwick. One more goal by Home off the stick of Ben Manuge, evened the score again. Norm Barry assisted on this effort along with Frazer Rogers.

Tight checking, fast, end-to-end rushes, and superlative netminding can always be found in the Men's Recreational Hockey League. Add the pressure of a short playoff series, and a tied score leading into the third frame, and the hockey can only get better. The fans were treated to one of the best segments of hockey last Monday as these two teams skated their way through the final period. Home Hardware player Jeff Stamp broke the tie when he zeroed in all alone on Westside goalie

Terry Crowe and slipped the puck past the defender. It proved to be the winning goal for the Home team, despite a valiant effort from Westside who went for the extra attacker in the final seconds of the game.

The teams return to the ice this Monday night in the series. This will be a do-or-die evening for Westside.

A loss tonight will end the series and give Home Hardware the season title. Admission is free and game time is 8 p.m. at the Minden arena.

Lost in the tangle of players, the puck is hidden from view during the first game of the Men's Recreational League final play-off series. Home Hardware won the opening game 4-3 against Westside Jug City.

Minden Novice A team ties with Uxbridge, 3-3

The Tri-County Novice "A" team has had a busy schedule lately with playoffs and a tournament.

The second game of the playoffs was a loss for Minden against Beaverton, 2-0, at home March 9. On Sunday, March 10, Minden had an easy win with a forfeit from Millbrook.

There was a busy week with Fenelon Falls coming to Minden on Tuesday, March 12. Again, Minden suffered a loss of 6-1 with the lone goal going to Colin McKenzie, assisted by Josh Shaw.

The next night the team travelled to Omemee. Omemee scored first but Minden came back with two goals, the first scored by Michael Hamilton, assisted by Greg Kerr. The second goal was scored by Colin McKenzie, assisted by Jordan Barclay. Omemee came back with another goal and late in the third period Michael Hamilton scored, assisted by Josh Shaw and Colin McKenzie.

With 29 seconds left in the game, Omemee scored to tie the game 3-3.

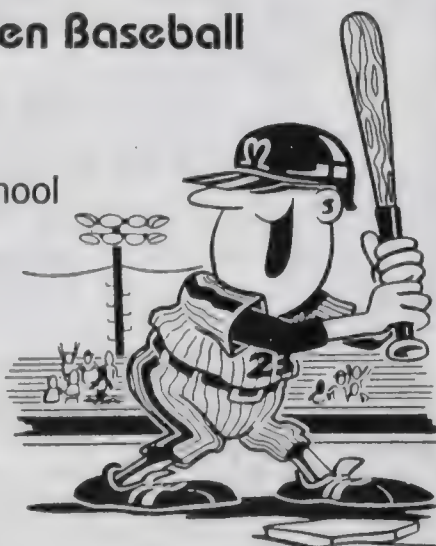

Thursday night, March 14, the team was on the road again this time to Uxbridge. Again a 3-3 tie. Michael Hamilton started the scoring off assisted by Paul Daniels. Josh Shaw scored shortly after, unassisted. Uxbridge then scored but Michael Hamilton scored again late in the first period, unassisted. It wasn't until the third period that Uxbridge got their final two goals.

Finally, on Saturday, March 16, Minden travelled to Woodville for a tournament. The first game was against Little Britain with Minden winning 4-1. Goals going to Michael Hamilton, unassisted; Josh Shaw, assisted by Trevor Woods; Paul Daniels, unassisted; and Colin McKenzie, assisted by Josh Shaw. The second game was against Uxbridge and turned into a very exciting game. Uxbridge scored first shortly into the first period and it wasn't until halfway through the second period that Paul Daniels scored, assisted by Michael Hamilton. This seemed to be a turning point for the boys as they all started working together again. Unfortunately, they were unable to score again and with a tie came a shoot-out, which Uxbridge scored to win 2-1. A great game for goalie Shane Walker and, as always, a job well done by defensemen Trevor Cole, Trevor Woods, Richard Brohm and Jason Scott. It was also good to see Dan Nielsen back for the tournament. Congratulations to Paul Daniels, winner of the MVP for the first game and Josh Shaw and Shane Walker both MVPs for the second game.

The team qualified for the consolation round of the playoffs against Ops. Good luck!

Ice dancers 7th at All Ontario

Two local kids skated their way to success by placing seventh in the All Ontario Interclub Competition last Saturday in Bowmanville.

Grade 6 student Julie Vanderlip, 11, and Grade 4 student Tristan Pawluch, 9, did quite well in the ice dancing competition. Especially considering the fact they've only been dancing together for six weeks.

The pair qualified at the local Kawartha Highlands Interclub to the Eastern Ontario Sectional Interclub, where they placed third. This entitled them to the All Ontario event.

They also competed in North Bay early in March, where there was a three-way tie for first place.

Julie and Tristan are professionally coached by David Hollows, who has been with the club for five seasons. Hollows has done an impressive effort in displaying his ability as a coach in such a short time.

This is the Minden Skating Club's first opportunity in the pre-preliminary mixed dance at All Ontario. The club congratulates Julie, Tristan and Hollows for their success, and their superb representation of the club.

Hollows would like to thank the club for all its support, and all the moral support provided by staff at the Minden Arena.

Pee Wee 'B' team loses to Omemee

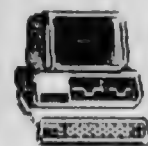

The first game of the Pee Wee Tri-County "B" Championship was played Tuesday evening, March 19.

Omemee played impressive hockey and took a 1-0 lead at 4:48 of the first period. They made it 2-0 at 5:52 of the second before Andrew Crego narrowed the gap at 3:44, assisted by Travis Willison.

Omemee took a 4-1 lead in the third on back to back goals at 13:39 and 10:01.

Bobbi Griffin connected with 2:36 remaining in the third, assisted by Tommy Neville, to end the scoring at 4-2 in favour of Omeme. Minden was definitely flat in this game.

Game two is in Omeme at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 27.

Students shine in public speaking contest

Teachers and school buses, two areas in which elementary students could claim expert status, led the list of winning topics in the public speaking competition held Thursday night at Archie Stouffer Elementary School.

From the contest, sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 636, two contestants emerged to compete in Legion Zone finals Sunday in Lindsay. Representing the local elementary school and Legion branch will be Luke Lester in the junior division and Will Wallace in the intermediate section.

Luke delighted the audience with his description of life on a school bus and how various survival techniques are used to make it from pick-up point to the school and back again later the same day. Luke noted that the endless hours a student must spend on a school bus provides a very strong incentive to obtaining passing grades each year.

Will Wallace used clever cartoons to lovingly lampoon a number of stereotypical images of teachers. He identified several varieties of teachers describing their attributes and characteristics. His assessment of the teaching profession concluded with the observation that the Minden school enjoys an abundance of the most favoured variety of teacher, the one who cares.

Also competing in the junior division were: Matthew Heffer, who spoke on the environment; Bryn Gray on his family; Susan Carr on McDonald's Restaurants; and Ryan Dawson, who spoke on his sister. In the intermediate section, other speakers included Jessica Wallace who spoke on growing up; and Kendra Anderson, whose topic was her imaginary friend.

The selection of winners was done by four judges, Rev. Brian Parker, Rheta Jones, Bob Penfold and Ruth Gorrie. Speaking on behalf of the judges, Mrs. Gorrie congratulated all the speakers for their excellent presentations. In particular she noted the fact that many of the speakers had taken what might be considered "ordinary" topics and creatively turned them into interesting presentations. She said the judges were particularly impressed with the wide age range of the participants. Among the speakers there were students as young as nine years of age in grade 4 to 14-year-olds in grade 8.

Commendations for the speakers were also provided by Dave McAdam, representing the local branch of the Legion. He presented each of the students with a certificate acknowledging their participation in the competition and prizes for the top speakers in each division.

Participants in the Legion public speaking contest were, front row, Matthew Heffer, Kendra Anderson, and Susan Carr. Back row Will Wallace, Jessica Wallace, Bryn Gray, Luke Lester and Ryan Dawson. Representing the Legion were Dave McAdam and Georgina Deeks.

What to look for when buying a new home.

As a builder, people always ask me, "How do I know my new home will be built to the highest standards?"

It's a good question. Because while all homes are built to building code standards, there is only one type of home that's been given a special designation because it exceeds the building code to make it more energy efficient. In fact, it's so energy efficient that Ontario Hydro highly recommends it.

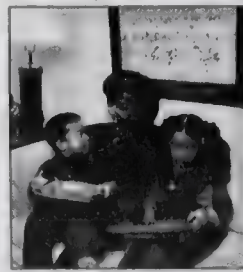

It's called the R2000 home. Seen from the street it looks like any other home. So what makes it so special? It's the way it's built. For example, R2000 homes are constructed with a greater attention to detail. This creates a more comfortable, even temperature in your home that also eliminates drafts and cold spots. And because of extra insulation and good quality doors and windows, R2000 homes reduce noise from neighbours and outside traffic.

Is clean, fresh air important to you and your family? The R2000 home lets you control the ventilation in your home. For example, you don't have to open the window for fresh air, the ventilation system will ensure a continuous supply at all times by exhausting the stale indoor air and replacing it with fresh outdoor air.

But there is one thing you must know. Builders must receive special training to build R2000 homes. And to ensure your home is built to official R2000 standards, it is individually inspected and given its own certificate. So look for the R2000 symbol, it's your way of knowing that the home you buy is a better built home.

For more information about R2000 homes, call the certified R2000 builder listed below.

Minden Leafs scrape a 5-4 win from Woodville

On Saturday, March 16, the Minden (Novice C) Leafs hosted our two final games of the playoffs.

Our first game was with Oakwood which showed the finest coming from our boys. The final score was 10-0 with goals and assists as follows:

Andy Kinsman, assisted by Jesse Loughheed; Andy Kinsman, assisted by Jesse Loughheed; Jesse Loughheed, assisted by Jeremy Davis; Adam Bathe, unassisted; Ryan White, assisted by Adam Bathe; Ryan White, unassisted; Adam Bathe, unassisted; Adam Bathe, assisted by Ryan White; Jesse Loughheed, assisted by Andy Kinsman and Jeremy Davis; Caleb Loughheed, assisted by Adam Bath and Ryan White.

Our defensemen Gavin Simms, David Byrnes and Jimmy Abbott provided strong defensive support to Dennis Arbour who earned a well deserved shut-out.

Our second game was with Woodville, who we have played close games all season and this match was no exception. Andy Kinsman started things going with a nice pass from David Byrnes. Then Jesse Loughheed scored, with assists going to Adam Bathe and David Byrnes. Then Woodville managed to get one by and then started putting pressure on with two more goals to then take the lead 3-2.

Caleb Loughheed then tied things up for us with assists going to Adam Bathe and Ryan White. Woodville then quickly took the lead during the end of the second period once more.

During the third period, Woodville had several opportunities to dominate the score, but Jimmy Abbott and Gavin Simms kept them at bay.

Dennis Arbour's goal-tending ability throughout the games was also a major factor in Minden's victory.

Adam Bathe made the best of a pass from Ryan White and scored the tying goal.

At the 9:17 mark of the third period, Jesse Loughheed led his team to win this game with the assist going to Andy Kinsman.

Final score: Minden 5, Woodville 4. Well done, boys!

Our team's coaches this year have made this a fun season for all of our boys. They made the sport a happy memory for everyone. Our thanks to Louie Reynolds and Dewayen Simms for outstanding "positive" coaching. A job well done.

Play ball! Minor baseball season will be a big hit

by Susan Grober

It's time to stock up on peanuts and popcorn, because baseball season is around the corner.

This year, the Minden Minor Baseball Association will again offer a recreational league for boys and girls during the months of May, June and July.

The league was only started last year, with about 350 kids making up 22 house league teams, as well as a midget and a junior team.

"The season was a big hit," says organizer Russ Duhaime.

"We're hoping we'll get more kids out this year than last year, especially in the older age groups."

The league will run just about every week night. A registration fee of $15 per child, or $35 for families of three or more, will cover operating costs and the purchase of equipment and uniforms.

Registration takes place at the Archie Stouffer Elementary School foyer on April 2 and 3 from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

It's no surprise that last season was so popular. "Because before minor baseball was organized in Minden, there really wasn't a whole lot to do for the kids," says Duhaime.

"The baseball league has really given the kids some organized recreation. The emphasis is really on fun, although there's some good competition as well."

Adults can take part in the action as coaches, umpires, or scorekeepers, says Duhaime. Experience isn't necessary, and league appreciates any help it can get.

Last year, there were about 22 coaches and 20 assistant coaches.

"We hope all of the coaches who were out last year will be back this year because they did a fantastic job," he says. "They really made it great for the kids."

A meeting for coaches, umpires and helpers will be held at the Minden Curling Club on April 14 at 2 p.m.

"I think you can talk to just about any coach last year and find out they had just as much, if not more, fun than the players," says Duhaime.

"It's a great feeling to see the kids having such a good time, and getting together with all their friends while they are out of school."

Because more teams are anticipated this year, more coaches will be needed as well. "So we really want to see anyone who's interested out to the meeting."

Duhaime would also like to see some senior citizens helping out.

"They can do just about anything—they can umpire, they can scorekeep, they can even coach if they feel comfortable with it," he says.

"We have so many seniors in Minden, I think they'd have a riot. They can really help the league, and have a great time doing it."

Duhaime, who is also treasurer for the league, expects to be running on a tight budget this season.

"We were hoping to get a provincial recreation grant.

Unfortunately, that fell through, so we're going to be counting on the support of area businesses," he says.

"The support last year from all the sponsors and service clubs was better than we anticipated. Without their support last year, the league would never have gotten off the ground."

If the league does expand, additional items such as bases, bats, balls, catcher's equipment, helmets and uniforms will be needed.

Even if there aren't more teams, there is a fair amount of equipment from last season that must be replaced.

"Balls don't last," says Duhaime. "And last year we bought cheap bats, and that didn't prove to be a very good idea. They didn't last, and the kids didn't like using them. Plus we need to replace a whole new set of bases that got torn up last year."

Participants, volunteers and sponsors aren't all that needed to make the season exciting, however. The league also needs people from the community to fill the stands and root for the teams.

"Baseball is a great spectator sport, so come out and watch," Duhaime urges. "Have a hot dog, have some potato chips, have a sodie pop. It's great fun."

Women's Institute

Minden trustee discusses education changes

Wednesday, March 20, a sunny afternoon, Minden Women's Institute had their monthly meeting at the Common Room with President Jeanne Sears in charge.

After the usual opening, she welcomed us all and our three guests. The usual reports were given and 18 members answered the roll call of a woman featured in a headline. This brought to mind some current events. The Card report was given by Irene Moore for the past year with 206 cards sent for various occasions. Since last meeting she has sent seven cards, and she asks you to let her know of anyone needing a card to be sent.

The Victoria East District Directors meeting report was given by Mary Cox with ideas for us to follow up on. District Annual being May 16, A.C.W.W. day is April 28, a District

Bus Trip, Craft Day, and box social. Our speaker was Wendy Ladurantaye, a trustee on our County School Board, and she very capably spoke about changes in our education system. This proved interesting and a question and answer session followed. A small gift was presented to her and we certainly enjoyed her talk.

This year we made donations as usual, $100 towards an article of furniture for Bowron Homestead and $50 towards a Public School Project.

Mention had been made that several positions were open in District and a Board Member for our Subdivision 7 is to be filled.

Home and Country magazines were handed out. After discussion it was decided that we would plan a bus trip for early fall.

After adjournment, all enjoyed a social time with snacks served by the committee in charge.

St. Pat's supper served full house

March 2 was a fish & chips night with our ladies cooking & serving. Good job, as usual. Ed Hisson did an excellent job on fun & games, with prizes for those participating. A sing-song was led by Ruth Gorrie on the organ and Gordon Kidd on guitar. All in all it was one good night.

March 16 St. Pat's night corned beef and cabbage supper was served to a full house, another delicious meal. Green seemed to be the colour of the night with green hats and horns to match. After dinner, Gordon Kidd playing his guitar led us in a sing-song. Don Holden gave us a couple of tunes on his little harmonica, then Roy Eveleigh played for us on his larger one. Nice going fellows. Lois Adamson acted as D.J. and many enjoyed dancing. Another enjoyable time had by all.

March 17 fun day for legion members at the curling club. First timers and experienced curlers mixed together on the ice to play some good games. First prize winners were the team of Bill O'Neil and his players, Terry Campbell, Peter Dollo, Ruth Bishop and John Warren.

A variety of Irish dress was seen throughout the building. The ladies prepared a meal of turkey, salad, chili and desserts. Everyone enjoyed another good day. Many thanks to all who worked so hard for all of these events. It takes a lot of hard work and thinking to put these together. Let's make sure, Comrades, we always support them.

The Blue Beret newsletter will be ready the middle of April so please pick up your copy at the legion.

Attention: April 3, General Meeting and nomination night. Pot luck supper at 6 p.m. and meeting at 7:30. Please don't miss this one.

April 7 zone convention being held in Omamee, Sunday, 1:30 p.m. Election of zone officers.

On our sick list are: Aulis Orpana, recovering at home from hospital, Andy Digiacomo, in Sunnybrook Hospital, and Lillian Davidson, in Minden Hospital. We wish them a speedy recovery.

Any change of address since joining the legion please notify Jean Clark 457-3579.

Former MPP Eakins honoured during appreciation night

All residents of Victoria and Haliburton Counties are being invited to say "thanks" to John Eakins during a special appreciation night in Lindsay on Friday, April 26, 1991.

The evening is a non-political event and will be held in the Victoria Park Armoury at 210 Kent Street West, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Family members, former Queen's Park colleagues and many long-time acquaintances will be in attendance to honour the former Cabinet Minister and second-longest serving MPP in the riding's history.

Tickets will cost $12.50 and are available in a variety of locations across both counties. There is no formal dinner being served, but a wide assortment of hors d'oeuvres will be available and there will be a cash bar.

Eakins, the former mayor of Lindsay, was first elected as the MPP in Victoria-Haliburton in 1975. He served as Minister of Tourism and Recreation of Municipal Affairs in the Peterson government. He retired from politics before the last provincial election.

In Minden, tickets are available from Verne Graham, 286-2203. Haliburton residents can call Lynn Craigmyle at 457-2613 or 457-2220.

A clear case of discrimination

Weekly newspapers across the country are battling with the federal government over massive postal increases scheduled to be instituted June 1. Speaking for the industry, the Canadian Community Newspapers Association outlines our position in the following commentary.

Changes to Canada Post rates for newspapers and other publications have resulted in a clear case of discrimination against community newspapers and their readers.

The facts are clear. While community newspapers face postage cost increases of from 100 to 1000 per cent with only 90 days notice, paid subscription magazines have had their mailing rates increased by 5.5 per cent, free magazines by 50 per cent and daily newspapers by 25 per cent per year for three years.

For example, Rate Code 1 Canadians daily newspapers mailing more than 5 per cent of the circulation will pay 14.9 cents for a 150-gram issue; and their rates will increase 25 per cent per year for the next three years. Rate Code 2 community newspapers may deliver free of charge the first 2,500 copies within a "free zone" 65 km radius of their community. Charges for other copies of the same 150 gram weight will jump to 41 cents this year.

Canadian-owned magazines such as Maclean's will pay 6.4 cents for each 200 gram magazine mailed. These Rate Code 3 increases were limited to the rate of inflation as directed by the office of the Minister of Communication. Non-paid Canadian magazines were hit with a 50 per cent increase effective March 1, raising their Rate Code 4 charges to 38.4 cents per copy for a 200 gram issue. Community newspapers of the same weight will be charged 51 cents.

(Community newspapers which used to qualify as Rate Code 3 or 4 publications are now placed in a commercial rate option, which has the same rates as Rate Code 2.)

The Canadian Community Newspapers Association, of which this newspaper is a member, made

"WHERE THE ACTION IS"

Advocacy Act will provide protection

by Donna Pacey,
Haliburton County Home Support.

Elaine Ziemba, Ministry of Citizenship with responsibility for Disabled Persons and Senior Citizens recently announced to the Legislature that an Advocacy Act will be introduced shortly. The Act will provide a system of advocacy for vulnerable adults living in institutions and in the community. The Advocacy Act will be administered by the Ministry of Citizenship through the Office of Disabled Persons.

The legislative initiative includes two other Acts. The substitute Decisions Acts will be administered by the Ministry of the Attorney General through an expanded Office of the Public Guardian and Trustee. The Health Services Act will be administered by the Ministry of Health.

Many of the frail and elderly citizens, who have moderate to severe disabilities, can conduct their own affairs or do so with the competent and caring support of friends, family, or social service providers. Vulnerable adults are those who may be unable to make important life decisions because of their disabilities, and have no one able, willing and appropriate to assist them.

3 Out of 10 Canadian Students Drop Out... And We All Pay The Price.

! Every year, 3 out of 10 Canadian students drop out before finishing high school... And they realize all too soon that it isn't as easy as they thought.

The fact is, over the next few years, the majority of new jobs will require a high school education as a minimum. Without it, young people simply won't have the choices, the opportunities or freedom they're looking for.

When 30% drop out...over 100,000 students a year...it affects everyone - parents, educators, employers, Canadian society as a whole.

Making sure that young people stay in school is important for all of us...and more important today than ever before.

Dropping out is no way out.

Let's do something about it.

UIC deduction rules change

by Doreen Hawman

As a result of the passage of Bill BC - 21, changes have been made in Unemployment Insurance legislation. Retroactive to January 1, 1990, employers are required to deduct premiums from earnings for employees age 65 and over. Employers who have not deducted the proper premiums are asked to adjust their deductions accordingly and remit the resulting amounts. The employee premium rate is 2.25 per cent.

For further information about these changes, contact your nearest Revenue Canada, Taxation Centre.

The Haliburton Information Centre is a non-profit organization, staffed by two full-time personnel and volunteers. If you have a question that needs answering or require help completing a form, contact your nearest Information Centre for assistance. In Haliburton, the office is located in the Drag River Municipal Building, Maple Ave., open Monday to Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. or call 457-2733. If you reside in the Minden area, the centre in the Anson, Hindon and Minden Municipal Office is open Monday and Tuesday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Drainville will examine recommendations

A consultation of the Social Assistance Review Committee recommendations, highlighting how they affect the Native Peoples of Ontario, will be conducted by MPP Dennis Drainville.

Drainville, the MPP for Victoria-Haliburton, will work with native organizations across Ontario to develop a comprehensive review of the recommendations in the SARC report for the Minister of Community and Social Services.

"Our government is committed to make its program work for the people of Ontario," stated Zanana Akande, Minister of Community and Social Services. This includes the native communities which may require a different approach to meet their needs. "Dennis Drainville will work closely with native groups to provide my ministry with a clear understanding of the needs and views of the aboriginal peoples of Ontario."

Work will begin immediately for Drainville who said "I am extremely pleased at the efforts of my government to rectify the hundreds of years of injustice done to the native community."

Drainville has demonstrated his commitment to this government and to the native peoples of this province," stated Premier Bob Rae. "I cannot think of a better representative to help us work more closely with the native community."

Drainville has been actively involved with the native community in Ontario through his role in fighting poverty as well as defending native rights.

Weeklies only had 90 day's notice numerous presentation to officials at Canada Post, the federal Department of Communications, and Members of Parliament and Cabinet after learning of the proposed increases in early December.

Despite pledges from Communications Minister Marcel Masse that there would be consultations prior to the increase, community newspapers were given only 90 days notice of the impending changes, which are a reflection of decreased subsidies from the Department of Communications (DOC) to Canada Post.

The representations resulted in a decision by Cabinet to delay the increase for Rate Code 2 publications an additional 90 days. Increases for former Rate Code 3 and 4 publications remained effective March 1.

Such blatant discrimination against community newspapers and their readers cannot be ignored. These newspapers have long been the voice of rural and small town Canada, offering a service that is different from their big city cousins but of no less value to their readers. That value is apparently not appreciated by the government, the Department of Communications, or Canada Post.

Community newspaper publishers understand the reason for the decreased DOC subsidies and support the government's fight against the federal deficit. But they wonder why they have been singled out for increases of up to 1000 per cent in 90 days while daily newspapers will be given three years to absorb a 75 per cent increase, and increases for paid magazines are kept to the rate of inflation.

These huge increases could well result in the death of many smaller community newspapers. The readers of these small papers and the communities they serve can ill afford to lose that valuable link to their municipal governments and their neighbours.

Readers should be asking their Members of Parliament about these increases, and why they are less worthy of consideration and service than readers of daily newspapers and magazines.

Community newspapers are not asking for special consideration. They are asking that they be treated as valued and valuable service to their communities, as a valued and valuable customer of Canada Post, and as equals with other Canadian publications.

Are equality and respect too much to ask?

Difficult times facing the Chamber of Commerce

In place of his regular Chamber of Commerce column, Shawn Hagerman has asked us to reprint a copy of the budget presentation he made to county council earlier this year. County council decided to give the Chamber less than half of the $73,500 it was looking for.

There is no point in dwelling on the difficult economic environment that currently envelops our County. The old joke about a recession is when somebody else is out of work, a depression is when you are out of work and panic is when your spouse is out of work, this for many is no longer a laughing matter for far too many people in our community.

Real estate has been very slow, building starts are down, the forestry industry is struggling both with the economy, government interference in licensing, and most recently the fire at Martin's Lumber.

The one steady industry throughout this year has been tourism. In our own County certain tourism sectors are holding their own while others, more sensitive to the recession, are in fierce competition for a shrinking tourist market.

Over the past year without the County's assistance and co-operation, it is difficult to comprehend what may have otherwise occurred. It has been with your help and foresight that the basic economic engine of

by Shawn Hagerman

the County tourism is still functioning.

This past year at the Chamber has been a year of consolidation with a constant goal of refocusing on what we do best. There has been a continual assessment of looking at what has worked well while coming to terms with areas that should be changed. A decision was made with the M.T.O. The Board asked the question, "Should County funds and Chamber membership monies be directed to subsidize an operation that was generating less revenue than the cost of its operations?" The answer we felt was that the Manager's and staff's time should be better spent promoting our area. This decision was just part of an ongoing process to fulfill our mandate to promote the economic development of our area.

This same approach was applied to our marketing strategy. Cost effective marketing with the co-op support of members was the critical litmus test for deciding what worked and didn't work.

Our staff, along with volunteer support attended the London Free Press Tourism Show, manned a booth at the Eaton's Centre, went to the Sportsmen's Show, the Toronto Travel and Leisure Show, and the important Markham Snowmobile Show.

The results are impressive. There have been over 10,000 tourist related phone calls and visits to our Chamber office in 1990.

Inquiries about accommodation, restaurants and events are happening every day. This January, 1991, there have been over 1,000 tourism calls logged in our office. We have answered questions about the Sled Dog Races, ski and snowmobile trails, lodge to lodge skiing, fishing, winter carnivals, downhill skiing, and the upcoming summer season.

This past year we have also worked with the various townships who have requested our help. We have helped hire and train travel counsellors for several townships. In June 1990, Ray Moore came to our Board and asked for our help in supporting Minden's bid for the Ontario Small Urban

Chamber was looking for 5% more from county and Municipalities Convention in 1993. Our Board unanimously voted its support, and our manager, Robyn Jarvis, is currently working to help with Minden's bid. Our Chamber is there to help anyone, any organization or any municipality whenever and wherever we can. We do, however, continue to need your support.

Our marketing budget was set in January 1991 for the upcoming year at $73,500. This figure is up 5% from County support last year. We obviously would like more, but we also recognize the restraints under which this County must operate. We are going to continue to ask our members to help fund programs that will benefit all. As well, there are several fund raising projects under way.

It would be nice at some point for our Chamber to be more self sufficient. This is an area we are working towards. However, without your help, we would not be able to keep pace, and I may add, ahead of our competing neighbouring tourist regions for our market share of the tourism dollar.

This upcoming year, we have developed an aggressive marketing plan: we want to potentially attend 2-3 more shows than last year. We have revamped and improved our Four Season Travel Guide, and will have 75,000 copies ready for spring distribution. We also want to designate monies toward developing convention business, strengthening our co-op advertising in the Toronto Star, make more use of editorial and travel writers, and continue our successful in-watts line. It is a good solid marketing approach based on what has worked in the past, while pushing forward with new ideas for the 90's. Now is the time to keep moving forward. The uncertainties of international travel affects, not only the people in Toronto, but those just south of the border as well. Haliburton County offers an accessible, friendly and environmentally attractive place to visit and invest. The potential to attract people and events here is great. We must continue to make our area known or else other areas will surpass us.

Discover federal materials at local library

by Joel Levis,
Haliburton County Public Library.

Words: The Working Tool of Government

It should hardly be surprising to discover that the true tool of government is words and their sometimes artful manipulation. And it probably won't be too big of a surprise to learn that governments - the federal government in particular - are some of the major publishers in the land.

Much federal government information is distributed to the general public through designated depositories receiving materials on a free basis, the only requirement being that these materials are to be made available to the general public.

There are two types of depositories. Full depositories receive one copy of just about everything that the federal government produces whereas a partial depository gets to select the materials that it wants.

The Haliburton County Public Library is a partial depository for both federal and provincial publications.

This means we have a current collection of government words that will appeal to just about everyone. Want to read a preliminary report of the Dryden Air Crash? How about the final Dubin Inquiry into sports and steroids. We've got that too!

On a more practical basis, we maintain the regular working papers from Ottawa - Debates, Votes & Proceedings, Orders of the Day, Status of Bills, etc. - for both the Senate and House of Commons. Learn who said what, who was there and how they voted.

Both the Canada Gazette

and Ontario Gazette are received on a regular basis as well as selected titles from Statistics Canada. And if we don't have it, we can get it for you through InterLibrary Loan!

The business of government is your business as well. Get your quota of government words through your local branch of the Haliburton County Public Library.

Federal program targets family violence

There is a tragedy of horrifying proportions taking place in Canada.

One in ten women is beaten by her husband or partner. Twenty-five per cent of girls and 10 per cent of boys are sexually abused before they are 16 years old. At least four per cent of senior citizens are victims of some form of significant abuse.

In a survey of Ontario aboriginal communities, 80 per cent of the women had experienced family violence, and 40 per cent of children had been physically abused by a family member.

The tragedy gets worse because victims continue to suffer after the violence stops. Problems such as alcohol and drug abuse, delinquency, prostitution, mental health, violent crime, and suicide may exist. Chances are the abused child will grow up to become an abuser, too.

Attitudes are the biggest obstacle to ending the tragedy. Laws can be put in place in a matter of months, but attitudes, values, and behaviours can take years to change.

The federal government is helping. We have put together a four-year, $136 million Family Violence Initiative targeting the problem—more than double the amount of money now being spent by the federal government on family violence.

Report from Ottawa

With Bill Scott, MP

The strategy has three goals: to change attitudes that encourage this violence; to call the abusers to account; and to help the innocent victims.

Health and Welfare Canada will spend $55.6 million to co-ordinate the attack on family violence by provincial, territorial and federal governments and agencies, as well as the voluntary sector and national professional associations.

The department will also help both victims and front line workers, and act to involve all Canadians and communities in the effort.

Indian and Northern Affairs will direct $35 million to native communities.

Canada Mortgage and Housing is committing $20 million to interim housing and more emergency shelters, in addition to its existing emergency shelter program, Project Haven.

From 1991 to 1995,

Secretary of State will provide funding for a range of community education programs.

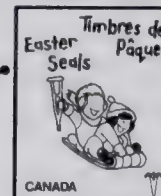

Multiculturalism and Citizenship Canada will ensure that immigrant and visible minority family members have equal access to the Family Violence Initiative programs.

Together, the Secretary of State and Multiculturalism and Citizenship are committing $7.7 million to solving the problem.

The Ministry of State for Seniors will also be involved. About 10 per cent of the Initiative's funds will be directed to the prevention of elder abuse.

Family violence is a tragedy that all Canadians must work to end. The federal government is spearheading a solution, but to change attitudes and create real answers, we must all get involved in the struggle.

Battery depots will help protect environment

by Milton Wallace

Starting Monday, March 18, there will be containers set up for the collection of used household batteries at 18 different locations in Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, and Norland.

Batteries can be dropped off in Lindsay at Canadian Tire, K-Mart, Zellers, P.D. Murphy Jewellers, Pilkington's, and at the following schools: L.C.V.I., I.E. Weldon, Central Senior P.S., Parkview P.S., Heritage Christian School and Sir Sandford Fleming College.

In Fenelon Falls, batteries can be dropped off at Brandon's Home Hardware, Stokes-on-Trent J&B's, Fenelon Falls P.S., and Fenelon Falls High School.

In Norland, leave your batteries at Norland Trading Company and Norland P.S.

The collection will include any of the small button batteries from watches, etc., as well as AAA, AA, C, D, 6 volt, and 9 volt dry cells. Spent rechargeable Ni-Cad batteries will also be acceptable.

If these batteries end up in the landfill, the cases eventually corrode and then they can release dangerous substances like mercury and cadmium into the water table. Turn your batteries in to the battery drops listed above to help keep our water clean.

This project is being carried out by the Victoria Environmental Network (V.E.N.) with support from the Citizens' Clearinghouse on Waste Management and Environmental Canada. V.E.N. will make sure that the used batteries will be properly disposed of or recycled.
